

MORNING APPEAL.

Thursday.....August 4, 1887.

MORROW INDICTED.

Bob Morrow, the San Francisco millionaire, has been arrested on an indictment of the Grand Jury, charging him with embezzlement and tampering with juries.

Morrow, as President of the Sutter Street Railroad, resisted the claim of a widow for the death of her husband. He could have settled like a man for $8,000, but he didn't, and then spent $25,000 in law suits and jury bribing. Now he has to face a public trial, which, if properly prosecuted, will probably land him in San Quentin. He belongs to that gang of stingy San Francisco capitalists who never pay a dollar if they can evade it or fight the payment in a Court.

The facts, as published by the San Francisco press, will make it necessary for Morrow to have an exceedingly good defence if he saves his bacon. The next jury will be harder to bribe.

Morrow is not the only one on trial; the city of San Francisco has its good name to protect. Let it send back greeting to New York and Chicago that millionaire hoodlums cannot ply their calling in California.

A Courageous Mormon.

The Mormons as a class are the most sneaking, hypocritical people that walk the earth. Occasionally one looms up above all the rest as a man who is not afraid to act as he thinks. All who know old Daniel Wells will endorse the following from the Salt Lake Tribune:

"We have a kind of liking for old Daniel H. Wells. He is a game old fanatic. He nailed his old Nauvoo flag over his door when his chief died, and went and took up his watch beside the old man's bier. If he had been hypocritical enough or cowardly enough he would have said: 'That flag will be flaunting a red rag in the face of the Gentiles, and it will be used as an argument to keep off Statehood, and for policy's sake I will keep it back for the present.' But he did not do that way. Rather, down in his heart he was thinking: 'Maybe the ghosts of John and Brigham will be around to-day, and if they are I will show them that I am back in Zion. Maybe it will comfort the old chief,' and so he pulled out the old treasoning flag and flaunted it like a sturdy rebel that he is. We do not like that flag at all, but the fact that it was put out at that time showed that though the loyalty of the old man is switched off on the wrong track, it is of the genuine plucky kind after all."

A Generous Offer.

Theodore Winters offers a premium of $50 in gold coin for the best and largest exhibit of fruit at the State Fair this Fall. The frost this Spring killed the fruit in many portions of the State, but in Inyo County and in the Southern portion of the State much of the fruit was unharmed. Those localities should make an effort to carry away Mr. Winters generous offer and they can do it. It will not only be an achievement on the part of the locality making the best exhibit, but it will also be an advertisement for it. Mr. Winters feels an interest in things relating to our State and its products and has always been foremost in encouraging improvement, in stock and the products of our soils. This proposition, in connection with the handsome medal offered by C. C. Powning, ought to make some competition. Both premiums are worth working for and it will be a very easy matter for Owens Valley to complete successfully for the premium offered by Mr. Winters. Bring on your fruit and grand display. The coming Fair will be a good one if every section does its part.

The Sawyers and the Chinese.

The Sawyer tribe is the most servicable family that the Chinese law-breakers ever got on the safe side of.

Not long ago a lot of opium was seized, and a Chinaman went on the stand and testified that it was only molasses. Dr. Alers, United States Examiner of Drugs, swore that it was opium. The smuggler was allowed by Sawyer to go on the old Chinaman's testimony, and now three different chemists who have analyzed it pronounce it opium. If Sawyer were to go to China he could doubtless get a fine Government position.
